with a specific directory? Say I have a directory on my computer, how can I read a file or all files in that directory? I want to get a list of the files in that directory then do stuff to them. I tried using FileInputStream but it didn't work.

Any idea? A: You can give a File object to the constructor of a BufferedReader, but it doesn't have a directory. You need to pass in a File object representing a Directory. Use the getFiles() method on the Directory object to get a java.util.List of File objects representing the contents of the Directory. A: A more generic solution would be to use Files.newDirectoryStream(Path path) and iterate on the resulting Stream: try(Stream stream = Files.newDirectoryStream(path)) { for(Path p:stream) { //Do whatever with p. } } Los Angeles (AFP) - Hollywood actors and directors on Monday voiced support for a proposal to deport non-citizens who have been convicted of crimes, including their own children. The actors shared a November 3 letter from 29 directors saying they wished to see the United States "remove the incentive" for a child "to be a criminal" by making deportation a factor if a parent or guardian is convicted. "We know that children with deportable parents will grow up to be part of the (illegal) alien population of our country," it said. "Each adult, including the parent, should be responsible for his or her own action, but we feel the harm will be spread so widely and so deeply in our lives if we live in a society where our parents are not held accountable
