Sons of Marine Pilot Killed in Plane Crash Identified A family in Missouri has confirmed the identity of their son, who died Tuesday when his small plane crashed in a field near a small airport. Ryan Metzger, 35, was a Marine pilot serving with the 10th Marine Expeditionary Unit in Japan. His family told The Kansas City Star that they got word that he'd died after a series of phone calls with the Marine Corps. News reports said the plane crashed about 2:35 a.m. Tuesday near the Linden airport. Military officials said they are investigating the crash, but could not provide more information. The newspaper said the nine other people aboard the Beechcraft 100 when it crashed were all from central Missouri. Authorities said one of the men on board was treated for non-life-threatening injuries at a hospital. The newspaper said Metzger graduated from the University of Missouri-Kansas City in 2006 and worked as a charter pilot. A mortuary confirmed to The Kansas City Star that Metzger died Wednesday. Metzger's Facebook page included pictures of him at the controls of the plane he owned. He was a pilot for about 15 years, the page said.
